ABOUT US

Alke Alüminyum, a Turkish facade contractor, was established in Russia in 2002, building on the industry experience its founders gained abroad — particularly from 1994 onwards.

Taking part in projects for prestigious companies such as Transneft, Şişecam and Sberbank across many cities in Russia, the company also successfully completed aluminum facade cladding work on numerous projects, including shopping centers, corporate headquarters, factories and residential complexes, establishing a strong position in the sector.

In 2016, Alke Alüminyum relocated its facilities to Bursa, Turkey, and turned its focus to the United States. It began producing products built to high quality standards, successfully tested at U.S.-based façade testing centers.

Since that move, the company has completed aluminum exterior façade cladding and window and door fabrication on more than 35 projects across many states, particularly in New York.

Today, with more than two decades of expertise, strong technological design capability and a firm commitment to quality, Alke Alüminyum continues to be a long-established and trusted brand in the sector.
